SSR Frontend + Backend + DiscordJs Developer

MindHub LA.
January 2023 to February 2023

- I have developed a web application for registering students at MindHub. This application is connected to an API that I created, which sends the information to a MongoDB database.
- The information stored in MongoDB is then accessed by a bot that automatically assigns certain roles to users when they join any MindHub server.
- Additionally, the bot has other useful functions, including a sanction system to penalize users who break server rules and automatically changing their nicknames to their real names, among other features.
